—BESSARABIA IN SIGHT—

Soviets Rolling Ahead

Pomoshnaya And Zhmerinka Taken

LONDON, March 18—(AP)—The capture of Zhmerinka, important Ukraine railroad junction below the German defense bastion of Vinnitsa, was announced by Premier Joseph Stalin today in a second order of the day broadcast from Moscow.

In a previous special order, Premier Stalin had announced the capture of Pomoshnaya, juncture of the last German-held east-west railway extending from the lower Ukraine bulge into Bessarabia, as well as Novoukrainka, five miles above Pomoshnaya. The capture of Novoukrainka was first announced in last night's Russian communique.

Fall of Zhmerinka and Pomoshnaya gave the Russians control of two of the Germans' main supply routes from the Ukraine into Bessarabia.

Fight Through Mud

(By the Associated Press.)

Soviet tanks, cavalry and infantry struck through the broad Dniester river valley to within sight of Bessarabia today in the developing German disaster in southern Russia, while to the north German reports of heavy troop movements indicated a possible new Russian drive to knock Finland from the war.

Moscow dispatches said the Russians were fighting through areas of mud and flooded streams in the push toward Bessarabia, after seizing towns only 11 miles from the Dniester. Bessarabia, which was Russian territory before World War I, was retaken from Rumania early in this war by the Russians who then lost it to the German-Rumanian offensive launched in 1941.

The resurgent red army offensive farther north in old Poland won the town of Dubno and sent soviet forces advancing within 70 miles of the rail city of Lwow.

A Berlin dispatch to a Swedish newspaper told of Russian troop movements near Kandalaksha behind the northern Finland front, and said the Finns also had been moving troops forward in this long-stagnant battle area. Russia possibly was getting set forcibly to put the Finns out of war if offer of armistice falls through. In Helsinki there was still faint hope that the peace negotiations might yet be saved.

—PEONAGE TRIAL—

Cotton Planter Sentenced To 2½ Year Term

. . . For Abusing Workers

HELENA, Ark., March 18—(AP)—Albert S. Johnson, Cross county cotton planter accused of keeping persons on his plantation in a state of peonage, pleaded guilty to two counts in Federal court today and was sentenced by Judge Harry J. Lemley to 2½ years in prison.

The guilty plea was entered by Johnson's attorney, Giles Dearing, of Wynne, Ark., who said he thought the government had established prima facie evidence on counts involving mistreatment of two negroes, Clyde Miller and Shelly McKinney. The negroes formerly worked on the Johnson plantation.

Judge Lemley denied a personal request of the defendant for leniency, stating that some threats had been made to persons who were involved in the case. Johnson originally was indicted by a Federal court jury at Little Rock on 14 counts of detaining 11 persons, negroes and whites, on his plantation by threats and intimidation. The indictment charged that he refused the workers opportunity to pay debts and confiscated their ration coupons.

The number of counts was reduced to nine yesterday when Judge Lemley dismissed five. District Attorney Sam Rorex asked that all remaining counts be dismissed and that the government drop charges that Johnson had violated OPA price regulations.

—CONSUMERS BOARD—

Bond Plan Airing Due Tuesday

. . . Myers Likely To Remain In Picture

As matters shaped up Saturday in Consumers Public Power district $42,128,000 refunding bond sale, it looked as if the directors were of a mind to comply with objections to procedure in the attorney General's injunction suit, with possible exception of eliminating Guy C. Myers, fiscal agent of the district, from the bond sale picture.

President Phil R. Hockenberger of Consumers, said Friday a meeting of directors Thursday night agreed to sale by competitive bidding, but added that Myers was still regarded as agent in the bargaining.

"Meeting" Not Legal Action

Saturday Directors H. J. Wisner of Scottsbluff and J. W. Kinsinger of Lincoln joined in a statement calling the "meeting" referred to by President Hockenberger, a "conference." Both regarded it no more than a conference, and not a legal action and said they had no notice of it. Next regular meeting of the board of directors will be held in Columbus March 21 when the whole matter will be threshed out.

It transpired Saturday that State Sheriff Lloyd Mengel, when he took Supreme court summonses to Columbus Friday, did not get personal service on President Hockenberger of Consumers, but left the paper at his residence weighted down for him to pick up on his return. Legal service on a corporation, attorneys assert, is not made until the summons is served personally upon the president. Sheriff Mengel returned to Columbus Saturday afternoon to complete his task.

With the directors already apparently willing to consent to competitive bidding, the board will have to weigh its obligations to Myers in the light of existing commitments, and consider practicability of proceeding as planned, giving Myers the handling of a huge financial transaction for them again.

It was stated by attorneys conversant with the case, that unless the injunction case is legally disposed of, even if Consumers proceeds with the bond sale by competitive bidding, bond buyers will hesitate to invest when a shadow of legal doubt clouds the securities.

Say Stand Well Known.

The statement of Directors Wisner and Kinsinger follows:

"We were glad to learn through the newspaper accounts of Mr. Hockenberger's statement that the other members of the board of directors, at a conference held Thursday night at Columbus, decided to accept competitive bidding in the sale of the refunding bonds. Neither of us had any knowledge that such a conference was to be held but this does not seem very material as our stand on competitive bidding was well known to all of the other members of the board.

"The matter of offering so large an amount of bonds would seem to require the most careful study by the board preparatory to the determination of such important matters regarding the bonds to be offered as maturities, coupon rates and privileges and bond resolution terms. All of these matters have received some study during the past two weeks but no official determination of any of them has yet been made and none should be made until the board has invited and considered the advice and suggestions of all responsible parties desiring to bid on the bonds. All of them should be determined before a date is definitely fixed for receiving bids. In addition there must be ample time allowed for those interested in bidding to make a sufficient investigation of the financial record and affairs of the district to enable each to bid intelligently, and rules for receiving the bids and for passing upon them must be determined and announced. On so large an issue the number of bidders will necessarily be limited. There must be no favorite among those bidding and everything possible must be done by the district to attract bidders and to get the best possible price.

"We sincerely hope that no prospective bidder concludes from accounts

Bridges' Invitation Called A Mistake By Boulder Regents

DENVER, March 18—(INS)—The five regents of the University of Colorado met in Denver yesterday and agreed that the invitation for labor boss Harry Bridges to speak at the Boulder campus was a "mistake and that more care should be exercised in the future."

There were indications that the virtual demand for the ouster of Dr. R. G. Gustavson, acting president of the university, would not be granted, but that in the future the regents will have to be consulted before speaking invitations are extended.

Jackie Coogan Lands First Back Of Japs' Lines

. . . In Northern Burma

A U. S. ARMY AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN INDIA, March 17—(AP)—Former film star Jackie Coogan, now an American army glider pilot, was the first man to alight when British forces were landed by air behind Japanese lines in northern Burma more than a week ago.

Coogan, flying the leading glider, leaped out as the craft stopped and fired a signal light for other approaching gliders, it was announced today. Until a higher officer arrived and took charge he directed the landing operations.

In the glider with him were a dozen Indian troops who brandished knives as they leaped from the craft.

Before taking off Coogan said "I sure feel confident riding with Indian troops as passengers" as he flashed his light on the grim looking men squatting on the glider's floor.

(Coogan was listed as a flight officer while stationed at Knob Noster, Mo., a glider base, in March, 1943. The above dispatch did not give his present rank.)

"Attacked" Lincoln Field.

Jackie Coogan piloted a glider in a group that made an "attack" on the Linclon air field during a routine training flight on April 2, 1943. He was at the base only a short time.

Early Meet Looms

POLITICAL QUESTIONS NEED IRONING OUT; PARLEY WITH PREMIER STALIN MAY FOLLOW

LONDON, March 18—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill may meet after the London visit of Edward R. Stettinius, jr., undersecretary of state, to iron out political questions, and the possibility of another three-power conference with Premier Joseph Stalin was suggested today by reports from non-British diplomats.

The need for Churchill and Roosevelt to get together again was accented by the Italian, Yugoslav and Polish political situations and recent discussions of terms with Finland and some of Germany's satellites.

The groundwork for the talks may be laid in Stettinius' conferences here with British leaders.

After Roosevelt and Churchill decide their position on such questions it is likely they would seek Stalin's accord.

Churchill in his speech Feb. 22 said no plans had yet been made for another three-power conference, but hinted at others to come. He said there would be no differences between the Big Three if the leaders could sit down for discussions frequently.

WAKEFIELD HAS 4-INCH SNOW

Although Wakefield reported four inches of snow early Saturday morning and Norfolk, Randolph, Humphrey and West Point three inches each, the average snowfall throughout the state was light. Kearney, North Platte, Big Springs, Sidney, Scottsbluff and Chadron all reported light snows, bordering on flurries, and Omaha was the only point reporting snow during the mid-morning.

Grand Island reported heavily overcast skies but no snow. Snow flurries that froze made some roads icy in central and western Nebraska. All roads in the state were reported in good condition, Saturday afternoon, by the highway and safety patrol departments.

State Accountants Auditing Records In Seven Counties

Eleven accountants of the state auditing department under direction of Chief Accountant George F. Kolzow are at work in seven Nebraska counties making required examination of their records.

This work, at the cost of the state, is kept up constantly. Auditors are now busy in Richardson, Douglas, Butler, Merrick, Hall, Dawson and Red Willow counties.

A huge amount of clerical work is required in each audit. For example the recently completed report on Nemaha county covers 133 pages, many of them tabular, carrying a statement on the condition of every account in the various offices, since the last previous examination with records of fees in all cases in the courts and all moneys taken in by the various officers and how expended. The examination in Nemaha took 622 hours of work and continued one month and 20 days.

Twenty-seven counties have been audited so far aside from the ones named, in the progression from the last previous audit.

Kuriles Blasted

WASHINGTON, March 18—(INS)—United States bombing planes blasted Japanese bases in the Kuriles six times on March 16 and 17, the navy announced today.

One of the attacks was on the island of Matsuwa, about 150 miles southwest of Paramushiro.

The statement from Pacific fleet headquarters indicated it was the heaviest assault within so short a period against the Japanese islands which guard the northeastern approaches to Tokyo.

—GERMANS FIGHT GRIMLY—

Hold On Cassino Weakens

NAZIS ARE SUPPORTED BY FIRE FROM NEARBY HILLS

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY AT CASSINO, March 18—(AP)—Thirty-four Mustang fighter planes swooped low over the ruined Benedictine monastery late today and dropped supplies to Indian troops marooned far up the hill for two days as the fight for Cassino's southwest edge proceeded bitterly below.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, March 18—(AP)—Allied troops are driving the Germans from one strong point after another in the southwest corner of devastated Cassino and rugged hills extending from the town to the monastery above, headquarters announced today.

The Germans continued to hold out in the corner of the town against a closely-co-ordinated allied infantry, tank and air attack. Fluid fighting raged around the peaks and ridges in the hills west of the town, with the allies losing one height to a German counter-attack. Indian troops, however, firmly held two others which they had captured.

New Zealanders and Indians were reducing one by one the German positions in Cassino's

Montana Glad State Lacking In War Plants

. . . Ford Discloses

OMAHA, March 18—(AP)—Declaring the people in his state are "thankful we have no war industries" to complicate the economic structure now or after the war, Gov. Sam C. Ford of Montana, here to speak on a Union Pacific NBC radio program, said in an interview today that "business in Montana is better than I have ever seen it now that the state has gotten away from a dependence on copper."

"Agriculture is the big thing now," he said, explaining that the government's control of prices in the copper industry has shifted the business emphasis in his state from mining to the growing of food.

"We now have 2,000,000 acres of irrigated land in Montana, and we have another million acres that are irrigable and will be brought under water provided the downstream states along the old Missouri do not take all of the river for navigation purposes," Ford said.

Dependent on Irrigation.

He revealed that the average agricultural income in Montana exceeded $6,000 a year compared to the national average of $3,200, but emphasized that much of the agricultural wealth depends on irrigation.

Asked about President Roosevelt's chances for a fourth term, Ford, the first republican to be Montana governor in 20 years, replied:

"We have practically no talk of politics in our state as the primary comes after the national conventions, but the trend is very sharply republican."

MARRIAGES SHOW DROP IN STATE; MORE DIVORCES

Love laughs at locksmiths—but, evidently, not at the law. Dr. C. A. Selby, state health director, reported Saturday that the number of marriage reports from the state, on the increase for the first eight months of 1943, began to decrease sharply last September, at the time when the pre-marital test law went into effect. Figures for the year are not yet complete.

Divorces granted in Nebraska during 1943 numbered 414 more than the 1942 total of 1,805, with 2,219 granted last year. Number of annulments dropped from 87 in 1942 to 76 in 1943.

Dr. Selby also commented on the fact that an increasing number of marriages were taking place in counties where army bases are located.

Violent Battles In Skies

750 To 1,000 Big Bombers Attack

LONDON, March 18—(AP)—Very strong forces of American heavy bombers smashed through German fighter opposition to attack targets in southern Germany today, U. S. strategic air force headquarters announced.

The heavy blow from British bases followed a smash at Vienna yesterday by four-engined American bombers from Italy, and an overnight raid by RA ' Mosquitos against undisclosed targets in western Germany.

(A German broadcast recorded by U. S. government monitors said "nuisance aircraft from the south" again had penetrated nazi territory today. Alan Randal, Canadian Press staff writer in London, said between 500 and 700 American planes staged the Friday assault on Vienna.)

The German radio declared that American bombers had crossed into southwestern Germany at noon.

"Very Strong Forces"

The phrase "very strong forces" used in the U. S. announcement indicated 750 to 1,000 Flying Fortresses and Liberators participated in today's assaults.

The bombers today smashed at aircraft plants, airfields and other war industries in southern Germany, and were escorted by Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Mustangs "in very great strength," the headquarters announcement said.

This southern section of Germany has been hit day and night by allied air power as the month progressed.

13th Mission of Month

With its massive escort, today's American air armada probably numbered between 1,500 and 2,00 planes.

It was the 13th mission of the month for the American heavy bombers which had hit Berlin four times and other sections of Germany six times before today's assault.

The Berlin broadcast said the American bombers were escorted by fighters and were engaged in violent battles by strong forces of the German air defense.

Running air battles continued across France and into Germany, the broadcast said.

An air raid alert was sounded in Basel, Switzerland, as the American heavy bombers droned on eastward.

Coastal watchers said some of the bomber formations leaving Britain required nearly an hour to cross the coast.

The German-controlled Vichy radio claimed that 22 bombers and 12 fighters were lost in the Vienna attack, adding that "many planes were believed to have crashed in snowdrifts over the Alps." U. S. headquarters did not immediately specify the number of planes failing to return, but allied headquarters at Naples said 11 planes were lost in all operations of the Mediterranean air force yesterday.

—WATER DIVERSION HEARING—

'First Consideration To Lower Platte Area'

. . . Southerland District Representatives Advocate

NORTH PLATTE, March 18—(AP)—The area from Ogallala to Kearney should be given first consideration in any program for development of the lower Platte river area in Nebraska, a report submitted to the legislature's water resources committee here Saturday by the Platte Valley (Sutherland) Public Power and Irrigation district and 14 canal companies declared.

Submitting the report were James C. Adams, Lexington, agricultural engineer for the Sutherland project, M. E. Crosby, North Platte, legal counsel for the district, Horace J. Cary, Kearney, district director, and Gerald Gentleman, North Platte, the district's secretary and general manager.

Tri-County Second.

Second area to be considered should be Tri-County within the Platte river watershed and third the territory east of Kearney in the Platte valley, generally included in the proposed Mid-State project, the report recommended.

"Because of older interests or developments already made complete development of the lower Platte should be made in the following order," said Adams, delivering that section of the report.

"1. The area from Ogallala to Kearney contains the canals with the oldest filings on the river. This area has struggled with development over the longest period of time and since this development has been slow because of shortage of water in the summer months and has been financed by irrigators' own money instead of government loans and grants, it should be the first area to receive consideration for full development.

"2. Complete development of Tri-County within the Platte river watershed should receive second consideration because this area has already constructed much of its irrigation system.

"3. Development of the area east of Kearney in the Platte valley should receive third consideration. Plans for the irrigation of land in Buffalo and Hall counties has been considered by the Sutherland district for many years and Merrick county should be included in this. This area has had its water table lowered and surface irrigation should be made available to replenish the ground supply as well as for gravity irrigation."

The third point referred to the contemplated Mid-State Public Power and irrigation district, whose principal supporters are at Grand Island and Kearney.

Those joining in the report were the Sutherland district, and these canals: Keith and Lincoln county, Sheridan-Wilson canal, North Platte canal, Paxton-Hershey canal, Suburban canal, Cody-Dillon, Gothenburg, 30-mile, six mile, Cozad, Orchard and Alfalfa, Dawson county, Elmcreek, Kearney.

Fourteen Canals.

The report pointed out that the 14 operating canals which lie between Ogallala and Kearney were organized and operating before the Sutherland district was formed and that private capital built and operated them. The estimated capital investment in eight canals between Kearney and Brady is $3,000,000, the report added.

CHURCHILL IS HOPEFUL

EXPECTS WAR TO REACH 'DECISIVE STAGES' IN '44

LONDON, March 18—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill expressed the hope today that the war in nearly every theater would reach "decisive stages" this year.

In a message to the "Salute the Soldier" fund campaign the prime minister said:

"During this year the men in the British armies will be engaged in nearly every theater of war throughout the world in what we hope may prove to be the decisive stages in this great conflict."

Dog Saves Life of Small Madison Boy Falling Into River

ELGIN, Ill., March 18—(INS)—Two and a half year old Robert Hoagland was alive today because Sambo, a small mongerel dog, bought help after Robert fell into the Fox river.

The dog's excited barking led Mrs. Lloyd C. Blackman, with whom the child lives, to the bank of the river two blocks away. There she found Robert had fallen from a retaining wall.

Mrs. Blackman saw his foot protruding from the water and jumped in after him. He is expected to recover.

Robert's home is in Madison, Neb., but he is living with Mrs. Blackman, his aunt, while his father, John C. Hoaglund, is seriously ill in an Omaha hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Davis, 1922 High street, are the grandparents of Robert.

Hopkins Suffering From Nutritional Disturbance

ROCHESTER, Minn., March 18—(AP)—The Mayo clinic said today that Harry Hopkins, friend and adviser of President Roosevelt, is suffering from a "nutritional" disturbance, without disclosing any particular ailment.

Hopkins has been under observation at the clinic more than a week since his arrival from Florida where he had been convalescing from an attack of influenza.

A clinic spokesman said the checkup so far had disclosed a nutritional problem and "we are making an effort to determine how best to handle the problem," adding that observations are being continued.

Anti-Nazis Are Tried In U. S. Prison Camps

. . . By Fellow Prisoners, Paper 'Aufbau' Says

NEW YORK, March 18—(AP)—Charges that nazi prisoners rule and persecute anti-nazis among them in a southern United States prisoner-of-war camp were published today in "Aufbau," a weekly New York German-language periodical.

The charges were contained in letters supplied Aufbau by the non-sectarian anti-nazi league, which said they were written by a German soldier to his pre-war refugee sister now living on Long Island.

League officials said the woman came to them for aid in efforts to have her brother transferred to another camp and presented letters claiming an attempt by nazis on the prisoner's life.

Long Scar On Throat.

The league quoted her as saying that her brother bears a four-inch scar on his throat as result of the attack.

Nazis in the camp persecute all anti-nazis, the published letters say, while at the same time attempting to convince American army officers in charge that they are anti-nazis.

"They sing songs of hatred against the allies and the Jews," the prisoner is quoted as writing. "Today, before going to church, they sang, 'Today Germany Is Ours, Tomorrow the World.'"

League officials asked that names of the brother and sister not be published for fear of risprisals against the family members in Germany. The sister was quoted as saying the German soldier wants to live in the United States after the war.

The appeal has been conveyed to Rep. W. McCormack, house majority leader, the league said.

Recommendations Studied Here By Educators Group

The recommendation formulated in the December delegate assembly of the Nebraska Education association to provide smaller units of teacher associations, was further discussed at a meeting of District 1 representatives Saturday morning at the YMCA.

Superintendents of county seat schools, superintendents, members of the delegate assembly, officers of District 1 and the executive committee were present to discuss the development of the recommendation.

The purpose of this recommendation is to acquaint teachers with educational problems, which they, in turn, can pass on to the public.

Mildred Alexander, president of the Beatrice Education association told about her organization, as did Martin Duensing president of the Seward association. Frank Heinisch of Omaha reported on the progress made by District II in this direction.

Dr. Archer Burnham spoke at the luncheon which followed the morning session.

Bombing Protests Error—deSeversky

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles by Maj. Alexander P. deSeversky, noted airplane designer, who has been visiting the various battlefronts. More articles will follow from time to time.

The small group of Britons and Americans who have protested against aerial bombardment of Germany are clearly well-intentioned and high-minded. That, however, does not change the fact that they are in the wrong. Their action is both unfair and dangerous.

It is unfair in that it singles out one phase of the war for rebuke, and obviously without the faintest understanding of the strategic objectives of air warfare. It is dangerous in that it may undermine the morale of our gallant airmen.

At a time when they are carrying the brunt of a great battle, it is scarcely encouraging for our air personnel to listen to charges that they are engaged in a "carnival of death," even though the charges come from a tiny minority of their fellow-citizens.

Singled Out for Rebuke.

To military observers it is clear that the airplane as a weapon has been singled out for rebuke merely because it is the latest and most efficient military force on the war scene. The depredations of other weapons have become familiar and no longer shock the world. The havoc wrought by air power is new and we have not become habituated to it.

Actually there is little difference between shelling a besieged city with land or naval artillery and bombing it from the skies. The main difference is that on the surface the destruction is gradually from the periphery of the enemy territory inward, whereas aerial attack is fast, penetrating deep within that territory immediately. The difference is not in the moral element involved, but only in the speed with which military objectives are accomplished.

Blockade Hits More Directly.

One of the oldest of war strategies is blockade, which certainly hits civilians—women, children, the aged and the incapacitated — even more directly than air bombing does. The fact that blockade kills and maims slowly, by starvation, rather than rapidly by bombs should hardly affect the military or moral ethics of the situation.

Most important of all, the critics of air warfare have failed to grasp the strategy of the procedure. They accept the false assumption that the bombing is haphazard, a kind of blind vengeance or "carnival of death." Actually, strategic bombing is a rigidly controlled and planned operation directed toward the achievement of specific military purposes.

The critics also forget that modern wars are no longer duels between professional soldiers on the opposed sides. It has become total war in the sense that the entire population shares the responsibility and the risks. In the past the men who made policies and supported governments that undertook wars could remain safely behind the lines while others did all the fighting and dying. They carried moral but not physical responsibility. Today, with the advent of the airplane, they must accept both types of responsibility.

Civilians Must Take Chances.

In the moral and the physical sense alike, civilians today must take the same chances and pay the same price in danger that the soldiers do. Those who conceive and direct the organized destruction called war can no longer be exempted from its horrors. There is even a kind of rough justice in the fact that, under modern conditions, the people who tolerate aggression by their rulers should also be exposed to the results of such policy; that those who make military strategy should themselves reap some of its fruits. In the long-run, we may hope, this should tend to prevent aggressions and wars.

Ours is a citizens' army rather than a professional army. We deliberately select 10,000,000 of our young, vigorous, most physically fit men, the flower of our manhood, and send them out to kill or be killed. Why is there any more justification for their deaths than for the deaths of civilians, provided the military purposes of the same magnitude are at stake?

Old Distinction Gone.

The job now being done by our airmen, if successful, will save hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions, of the men in our civilian army. The protest against air bombardment in effect places a higher value upon the lives of German civilians than it does upon the lives of allied civilians who happen to be wearing uniforms. In this total war, it should be recognized, the old distinction between the front and behind-the-lines has lost all meaning. An older man or woman who makes munitions or produces food is as much a part of the total military force as a young man in uniform.

The notion that destruction from the air is somehow more "brutal" and devastating than destruction on the surface is pure illusion. It is merely more concentrated and more efficient. Insofar as it tends to bring war to a decision more quickly, air power is a more humane weapon, involving the loss of fewer human lives. We need only observe: the completeness of destruction in mile-by-mile engagements such as are being fought in Russia and Southern Italy to realize that the kind of air strategy which succeeds in disarming the homeland, the source of military power, is the least costly in human sacrifice. Because surface warfare sometimes takes years to accomplish what air power accomplishes in weeks or months, its destructive force seems smaller. But it is merely spread thinner.

Our air forces are at this moment engaged in the most important action of the war. They merit gratitude and encouragement, not rebuke based on misunderstanding of the realities of modern war.

Power District Inactivity Lowers Director Filings

Deputy Secretary of State J. C. Coupland, Jr., said Saturday that lack of filings for directorships of many public power and irrigation districts as manifest by blanks in the official certificate to county clerks, results in the main because many districts are inactive.

Numerous applications for organizations of districts have been made in Nebraska and never perfected because desired rights for water could not be obtained. The legislature has failed to provide a means for the department of roads and irrigation to dissolve them on its own motion, hence they remain of record and show up as blanks at primary and election time.

Good Night, Sweet Prince

The Life & Times of John Barrymore —based on the new best seller

BY GENE FOWLER

Illustrations By James Montgomery Flagg

Jack at last beheld the ramparts of Elsinore . . .

"I'm going to do Hamlet," he said.

With a relieved sigh, he tossed out the books.

WHEN JOHN BARRYMORE set out from his sister's house that day in June 1922, after reading Hamlet, he at last beheld the ramparts of Elsinore rising from the gray horizon banks. Sheet lightning, far off, reddened the clouds and dust haze. Delayed thunderings rolled down like muffled flourishes of castle drums.

The two soliloquies possessed Barrymore. A voice clearly had challenged him from across three centuries. He accepted the challenge and now his irresolutions fled. He would climb the highest of the magic mountains, the last great peak he was to scale in the fabulous domain of the theatre.

Barrymore announced to Producer Arthur Hopkins his decision to draw on the tights of the classic Scandinavian. He mentioned the great voice teacher, Margaret Carrington.

"I need a new voice," he admitted. "Try to get her to coach me."

The rejoicing Hopkins at once consulted Mrs. Carrington. Would the retired opera singer undertake the task? "Yes," she said, "but on two conditions. We must work together for at least a month before a date is set for the premiere and the play will not be produced until I'm confident Mr. Barrymore is ready."

Hopkins readily consented to these stipulations. A few days later, Jack appeared at Mrs. Carrington's Connecticut farm. He brought with him an armload of books, weighty tomes having to do with the character and motivations of Hamlet.

Mrs. Carrington looked at these imposing eruditions. "Let's throw them someplace where the silverfish can chew on them," she said. With a relieved sigh, Jack tossed out the books.

They went to work with only the small volume Ethel had handed to Jack as their text. For the next two months, and from six to eight hours a day, Jack worked with the voice teacher as if for a master's degree. He put all his great energies into the task.

Mrs. Carrington had deep reverence for the word. She had a quarrelsome ear that was easily outraged. Exasperated by Jack's vocal abominations (his Uncle John Drew declared that Jack must have slept with Coney Island barkers), she frequently banished him to the garden to contemplate the violations.

But the new Hamlet was taking form. . . .

SEC Order Will Not Force Sale Nebraska Power

. . . Says J. E. Davidson

OMAHA, March 18—(AP)—The decision of the federal court in Boston upholding orders issued by the Securities and Exchange commission calling for the dissolution of American Power and Light company and electric power and light corporations will not prevent the Nebraska Power company from continuing as it is, nor will the company have to be sold, J. E. Davidson, president of the company, believes.

American Power and Light owns most of the common stock of the Nebraska Power company of Omaha.

"Story Is Myth."

In a statement issued last night, Davidson said "the story that the Nebraska Power company must be sold or will be sold is a myth, created to serve as a background for promoters and other people who favor municipal ownership.

"These people have been using this myth as the excuse for their right to socialize the Nebraska Power company, put it under municipal ownership and thus turn over another business to a political bureau."

Davidson declared that "even if the United States Supreme court should sustain the decision of the lower court, the Nebraska Power company would not have to be sold" because "American Power and Light has submitted to the Securities and Exchange commission plans which will make possible the distribution of its Nebraska Power company stock to the stockholders of American.

Opposition Scored.

"The Nebraska Power company will continue to serve the people of Omaha in the same manner, with the same organization, and under the same local management—unless the small group which is trying to force our company out of business and to socialize electric service in this community has it way," Davidson said.

Davidson declared "this group consists of the World-Herald and a few others who have been making a strenuous effort during the last year to persuade the people of Omaha that the Nebraska Power company must be sold or that it will be ordered sold."

W. C. Fraser, attorney for the People's Power commission, said earlier yesterday that the Nebraska Power company will have to be disposed of by its present owners as a result of the Federal court action.

ALLIES HIT WEAKENING JAPS IN BISMARK AREA; GLIDERS LAND BEHIND ENEMY IN BURMA

(By the Associated Press.)

Japanese positions rimming the Bismarck sea apparently are nearing collapse under trip-hammer allied blows.

At the north entrance to the southwest Pacific Americans captured Lorengau airdrome on Manus island in the Admiralty group, allied headquarters said today, and were last reported within 600 yards of Lorengau tow ship, largest village in the Admiralties.

On the southwest rim, the key Japanese supply and air base of Wewak, New Guinea, shuddered under a 143-ton bombing that raised to 899 tons the explosive weight poured into enemy positions in six days. The Japanese indicated their plight when they failed to get any fighter interceptors off the ground. Already, the enemy has lost at least 65 planes trying to blunt the air blow.

Rabaul Pounded Again.

On the east rim, Rabaul, New Britain, whose neutralization by air attack set the pattern for the Wewak assaults, was pounded anew with a 135-ton blast.

Today's communique reported the collapse of frantic Japanese lunges against allied positions at Empress Augusta bay, Bougainville. For more than a week, outflanked enemy troops, some of them veterans of the unforgettable rape of Nanking, have stormed American positions in suicidal attempts to gain high points commanding the allied beachhead. Fighting has been described officially as some of the war's heaviest.

From Lord Louis Mountbatten's southeast Asia allied headquarters came a few details of a dramatic glider plane flight which landed troops in north central Burma and slashed Japans' north-south supply lines.

Jackie Coogan In Action.

Under the over-all direction of Mountbatten, the man who made the commando raid famous, the daring Burma operation included in its cast of characters a former movie star and a comic-strip hero model.

Jackie Coogan, one-time juvenile screen star who now pilots a transport glider, was the first man to alight when the airborne forces landed silently behind the Japanese lines. He directed landing operations until a higher officer arrived.

Col. Philip G. Cochran, Erie, Pa., reportedly the real-life model of the comic-strip hero, "Flip Corkin," commanded the special air unit which landed the allied forces and then brought in supplies and reinforcements.

Within 24 hours after the landing, an emergency landing strip had been slashed out of the Burman jungle and shortly afterward a second strip was completed a few miles south.

In the central Pacific, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced raids on Oroluk and Pingelap in the eastern Caroline Islands and on three undesignated atolls in the eastern Marshalls.

Dr. Potter Tells Universalism Need

FREMONT, Neb., March 18—(AP)—The most alarming phase of world organization is the lack of mental preparedness of peoples of the united nations, Dr. Pittman B. Potter of Oberlin college said last night.

Dr. Potter told 300 delegates and visitors at the Mississippi Valley International Relations club conference at Midland college that univeralism, not regionalism or dividing the world into sections, is needed.

Favoring an international police force, representing each nation, Dr. Potter said the League of Nations failed because the individual had no part in choosing national representatives.

SIMPLIFIED TAX MEASURE READY

"Streamliner" Bill Will Free Approximately 30,000,000 From Filing Income Returns In 1945

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—Swift enactment was predicted today for a new "streamlined" tax bill which would free approximately 30,000,000 persons from the filing of income tax returns while making few changes in individual tax burdens.

House ways and means committee Chairman Doughton (D-NC), and Rep. Carlson (R-Kas) and Rep. Robertson (D-Va), committee members, described the bill as "a wonderful job," and Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee said the senate would act "within ten days after the measure comes from the house."

The house committee brewed its balm for taxpayers just two weeks after the historic "veto" battle over the second wartime revenue measure.

Some Pay More.

Doughton said the streamliner made no substantial changes in present burdens for taxpayers—that "nobody will be hurt much or helped much," as to the size of their tax liability. However, some taxpayers, notably married persons without children would pay more while couples with more than one child would pay a little less.

It was estimated the plan would bring in some 150,000 new taxpayers, whose incomes are between $555 and $624 annually, and that the effects of the new exemptions and rates would be to funnel about $20,000,000 more annually into the treasury.

The streamliner makes no change in the requirement that tax estimates and partial payments be made by this April 15 on 1944 income.

If it becomes law, this is about what the bill would do:

1. Beginning next Jan. 1, the present 20 per cent withholding system against wages and salaries would be revised to deduct the full tax liability for persons earning up to $5,000, numbering about 30,000,000.
2. There would be no change in amounts held out of pay envelopes and salary checks this year, and the government itself would compute the taxes on 1944 income for those with wages and salaries under $5,000. The taxpayer, after the year end, simply would mail to the collector a copy of a withholding receipt, furnished by the employer, in place of the regular return, after writing on the back of the receipt the number of dependents and income other than wages and salary, if any.

The collector then would calculate the actual tax and bill the taxpayer for an additional amount or issue a refund check.

3. The victory tax would be repealed and far-reaching adjustments made in the normal and surtax exemptions and rates.
4. There would be revisions of normal and surtax and exemptions provisions.
5. Of the 20,000,000 who still must file returns, it is estimated that 10,000,000 would use a simple tax table which will show their entire tax, and the remaining 10,000,000 would fill out returns in more detail but would be provided a simpler return than the present long form.

RUBBER DIRECTOR WARNS:

DEWEY VOICES COMPLAINT ON INDUCTION OF DEFERRED

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—Production of synthetic rubber is being held up by the shortage of workers, Rubber Director Bradley Dewey reported today in a plea for retention of the industry's young key technicians.

Voicing the first official complaint of industries likely to be hit by the announced plan to take into the armed forces practically all of the 250,000 men under 26 who have been deferred for occupational reasons, Dewey said:

"If at this late date, the industry finds itself in a position where its young, irreplacable, highly-trained technical men are drafted, it will be impossible to operate some plants satisfactorily or to carry forward to completion some vital researches."

Few Indespensable.

His assertions followed a hint from President Roosevelt that the chief executive is leaning toward the armed services' view that virtually all physically fit men under 26 must be drafted, that it is a case of men first and materials second.

For the past ten days there has been an intensive, behind-the-scenes tug-of-war between the armed services and production officials over the new draft policy. Production officials had hoped to keep some 40,000 to 50,000 key technicians but Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday that few men under 26 are really indispensable and the armed services' view is that that is too great a percentage of deferment to maintain the needed combat force.

The president was graphic about it.

"Can the armed services spare 50,000?" asked a reporter.

"Are you going to lose a battle?"—asked Mr. Roosevelt in reply.

Military Demands Great.

Making his fifth progress report, Dewey aimed his protest chiefly at the expected draft of key men between the ages of 22 and 26.

"It is hoped that a way will be found," he said, "by which it will be recognized that these irreplaceable men, irrespective of their personal desires to join the fighting forces, are of maximum value to the country in their present positions."

About 22,000,000 synthetic rubber tires will be built for passenger cars this year, Dewey predicted, instead of the 30,000,000 previously estimated to be necessary to replace the worn rubber on civilian automobiles. "A continuing shortage" for the average motorist was forecast, for only 7,000,000 of the tires scheduled can be built by mid-year.

The new synthetic plants are turning out rubber in greater quantity than natural rubber was consumed in any year prior to 1941, it was observed, but "insatiable and immediate" military demands are taking the lion's share.

Winchell, Dies Carry Feud To Radio Program

..Will 'Air' Controversies

WASHINGTON, March 18—(INS)—Rep. Martin Dies (D-(Tex), chairman of the house un-American activities committee, was scheduled today to air his controversy with columnist Walter Winchell on the radio March 26, a week from Sunday night.

Dies, who has charged Winchell with attempting to "smear" members of congress and certain administration officials in his broadcasts, accepted the offer of 15 minutes' radio time from the Jergens company which sponsors the columnist.

The offer was wired Dies by Mark Woods, president of the Blue network, who was subpoenaed to appear before the Texan's committee to submit Winchell's radio scripts for the last two years.

Scripts Being Assembled.

Woods notified Dies that scripts and recordings of past Winchell broadcasts are being assembled. The committee will arrange with Woods for the date of his appearance.

Dies said he accepted the offer to answer recent statements made by Winchell which he declared "should be settled once and for all." He declared it "is an important victory for freedom of speech and the right of public officers and citizens to answer untruthful statements used over the radio."

Dies indicated that some 30 witnesses will be called before the committee, including officials of the Jergens company.

Meanwhile, Winchell, notified at Miami, Fla., of the subpoenas, said that Dies "has had the scripts all along for the past two years.

"Strictly the headline hunter," declared Winchell. "Why subpoena my scripts? Why not subpoena me?"

Fisher Sends Pair To Industrial School

Two 16-year-old boys were sentenced to the Kearney industrial school Friday afternoon after they pleaded guilty earlier in the day to a charge of assault and battery when arraigned before Municipal Judge Edward C. Fisher.

Police said the boys had admitted four attacks on women during the past three months, two of them last Tuesday. In each case the boys left hurriedly in a car when the victim started screaming. They were arrested Thursday night by Detectives Paul Kerl and G. W. McKinney who were investigating a "suspicious" car.

Judge Fisher, in passing sentence, wrote: "Upon investigation the court finds . . . that said defendants, and each of them, for want of proper parental control and care are growing up in a life of crime and delinquency; that they are proper subjects for commitment to the state industrial school at Kearney, Neb., under the provisions of Sec. 83-1103, Comp. Statutes 1929."

(In sentencing juveniles to the boys' school in Kearney or the girls' school in Geneva, judges are not required to state a definite period of time. The person sentenced must remain at the institution for one year, after which he or she is eligible for parole, but the institutions may keep the person until the age of 21.)

In each case, the boy had lacked the father's supervision for some years.

CARRYING THE WAR TO SOIL OF GERMANY

Hitler's most effective weapon, the luftwaffe, was not in the military books of the original Prussian Junkers. Their technique embraced simply the plan to wage wars upon the soil of other countries; sparing their own its devastation. And then when a campaign of conquest failed, the Prussian Junker threw up his hands for a breathing space to prepare for the next war. The airplane has turned against him. In recent weeks, and in the months ahead, Germany is experiencing in frightful form all of the terrible devastation which war entails.

No Way Out

It is not in line with civilized instincts to rejoice over destruction. The fact that nazi Germany, in its methods of conquest and in its treatment of occupied nations and the peoples of those nations, has shown a callous barbarism, still inspires no joy in the wide-spread destruction of German cities and countryside. Civilized people never derive satisfaction out of bloodshed and destruction. But there is no other way out. There is no path to be followed except a painful one, and that is the course which is being followed. These weeks ahead undoubtedly will fulfill all the prophecies which seemed so fantastic and so unbelievable when first military writers told of the war which would be fought in the skies.

Definite Mastery

This margin between axis and allied airpower is certain to become greater. In London it was revealed at week's end that the American army airforce alone had shot down 505 German planes in the first 16 days of March and had accounted for 2,340 since the beginning of the war. This sustained destruction of German planes by the American airforces would mean nearly a thousand a month, which is more than Hitler can produce. In other words, his planes are being put out of action faster than he can replace them.

Quick Results

The results have become most apparent. On the ground, the German armies in Russia throughout a period of five months have fought none the less skillfully nor none the less courageously than they did in the beginning of the Russian campaign. But they have been without air support. Men and guns and tanks have been largely at the mercy of soviet airmen. Stalin may not publicly appreciate the tremendous assistance which the allied air offensive in the west has been, but both he and his generals know that it has contributed to no small extent to the Russian successes. And now his armies at the close of the week stood at the frontiers of Bessarabia at a number of points, ready to plunge into Rumania. Hitler's fortunes in the east had reached their lowest point since the start of his campaign of conquest.

Barriers Ahead

The sweep across the flat plains of southern Russia, even in the face of the great natural barriers of broad and deep rivers, provide no such test as will confront Stalin in forcing the Carpathians, if the Russian premier attempts to drive westward. It was the combination of cruel losses in the Carpathians, coupled with even heavier losses in the old lake region around Tannenburg in World war No. 1, that brought about Russian retirement and withdrawal from the war in 1917. It is this vital difference between the present situation and the one that prevailed then. The late kaiser and his general staff fought a defensive war in the east in the first world conflict. Hitler has squandered a storehouse of manpower and of equipment in his attempted conquest of Russia. He has sacrificed hundreds of thousands of his own men and more of the manhood of his satellite nations in Russia. He has tossed aside mountains of equipment, only to lose all the rich territory that he had gained in the beginning. Whether his armies still retain the strength for defense is purely a matter of guess-work.

Up to Stalin

On the banks of the Dniester, the burden of continuance of these satellite peoples in the war rests largely with Stalin. He can encourage their withdrawal, or he can stiffen their determination to fight on. And it is not an easy choice. It is one in which emotion and ambition are apt to be the dominating factors. The emotions are inspired by the terrible damage armies of occupation in Russia have inflicted upon Russian cities and have practiced in the treatment of civilian populations. With good reason, the Russian armies and the Russian high command could insist upon harsh and repressive steps against these governments and peoples who threw in with Hitler when a German victory seemed inevitable on the continent of Europe. It would call for the greatest restraint on Stalin's part if he adopted any but the most obdurate policy in connection with these satellite countries.

Finnish Pattern

It is not necessary, however, to look beyond Finland for evidence of what may avert a smash-up among the Balkan nations that would hasten Hitler's end greatly. The problem which confronts Stalin is to create confidence in the Russian plan. He cannot hope to crush force that has characterized German policy by substituting his own force. He cannot expect these peoples to welcome their own destruction as independent nations and their incorporation in the soviet union any more than they relish their enforced participation in the axis. There are a great many people in the United States who see no harm in the destruction and absorption by great powers of these small nations. Those Americans say these small European nations never should exist in an independent status. They would be better off as a part of some great power. Their absorption would remove a continuing source of war. It may be true that in a material sense they would fare better under the benevolent protection of one of Europe's great powers.

Ancient Prides

There is the matter of ancient racial pride and the irrepressible hopes of independence and freedom. Whatever the material facts may be, the record discloses rather clearly that no minority can be enslaved permanently without conflict. The war enters a new phase with the arrival of Stalin's armies on the frontiers of Rumania and Poland, which places burdens upon Joseph Stalin entirely different than those faced when his struggle was to clear Russian soil. Bessarabia was incorporated in Rumania in compensation of Rumania for territorial changes. Its status can be a matter of dispute. But the progress of Russian armies is giving Stalin a diplomatic problem none the less formidable than the military burdens which have weighted him down since 1941.

Now Taking Form

This is no fanciful thinking. Some of the reports from continental Europe within recent weeks emphasize that conquered territory is becoming chilly in its attitude toward the allied cause in the absence of specific declarations of policy by Stalin. Sabotage has been declining. Populations within occupied lands reveal a new spirit of desperation. It is not that these peoples like the Germans any better. Their hatred against the nazi order is as intense as ever. But they see a new threat to their unquenchable aspirations to regain their old status as free and independent nations.

What Cooled the Turk

Germany's "ace" diplomat, wily Fritz Von Papen, reputedly was summoned to Berlin early in the week to report upon conditions in Turkey. There in that critical area a promising turn in Turkish policy surprisingly flattened out to such an extent that British aid to Turkey was discontinued. There may have been an element of fear of Russia in the Turkish change of front. A "lone dog" course may pay temporary dividends, but in the end no country—however great and powerful—can afford to ignore world opinion. That applies with equal force to Russia, Germany, the United States, Britain and Japan.

Chickens Come Home

There has been so much truth in the homely old axiom that "chickens come home to roost." Germany is finding that out. The destruction of German cities is not pleasant, but it is simple justice, which can be stern and majestic. Before the close of spring, the Greater Reich will have become the most bombed territory in the history of the world. Its cities will be in ruins. And for the first time in the existence of the modern German empire, the full, bitter fruits of war will be dumped directly upon the German doorsteps. It will constitute a memory the German people are not apt to forget before launching another war.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Dams and Ponds.

More often than we e'er suspect
The lives of others we affect.
—Slaptail the Beaver.

Slaptail is right. For good or ill and wholly without thought on our part we daily affect the lives of other folks. Most of us would be greatly surprised should we learn how often and how greatly we unknowingly affect other lives.

Slaptail and Mrs. Slaptail were the two young Beavers who had come down Laughing Brook from deeper in the Green Forest and built a dam and so made a pond not far in from the Smiling Pool where Jerry Muskrat lived. Jerry was visiting that pond now, trying to find out why Laughing Brook had failed to come roaring down in a great flood this spring.

"Where?" demanded Jerry

"We Beavers are the reason," Slaptail had replied and then had pointed out to Jerry how the pond they had made checked the swift flow of water. Still Jerry couldn't see how one pond could so completely control Laughing Brook and Slaptail had hinted that there were other ponds.

Jerry looked at Slaptail suspiciously. Just what did he mean? Jerry knew of no other ponds. "Do you mean that there are other ponds along Laughing Brook?" he asked.

"Of course," replied Slaptail, his eyes twinkling.

"Where?" demanded Jerry. "Why haven't I seen them?"

"Yo haven't gone far enough up Laughing Brook into the deep woods. If you had you wouldn't have asked those questions. Where do you think Mrs. Slaptail and I lived before we came down here?" replied Slaptail.

"I hadn't thought anything about it," confessed Jerry.

"We came from the old family ponds deep in the Green Forest," replied Slaptail.

"Ponds?" questioned Jerry.

"Ponds," replied Slaptail. "There are or were two of them close together. My grandfather, Paddy the Beaver, and my grandmother made them when they settled there."

"What did they want of two ponds? I should think that one would have been enough," said Jerry.

"One was enough for a while, but when they had cut all the food trees that could be safely reached from it they built another dam and made another pond to reach more food trees," Slaptail explained. "I was born there," he added.

Jerry considered this for a moment or two. Then he had another question. "What did you leave there for?" he wanted to know.

"We wanted a home wholly our own. Besides, most of the food trees around there had been cut," replied Slaptail.

"Is your Grandfather Paddy still there?" asked Jerry.

Slaptail shook his head. "No," said he. "He left when I was too small to remember him. He and Grandmother went way up on the Great Mountain where Laughing Brook had its beginning. There they made a new home."

"Which I suppose means a new dam and a new pond," said Jerry.

Slaptail nodded. "Of course," said he. "The last I heard they had one big pond and two smaller ones a little below it."

"Who told you that?" ask d Jerry.

"A little bird who had been up there," grinned Slaptail.

"I suppose your parents are living in the old place," said Jerry.

"No," replied Slaptail. "They moved out last year. They went up the Laughing Brook, too, but not so far as Grandfather Paddy. They built a dam near the foot of the Great Mountain and I've been told they built another smaller one this year. Do you see now how we Beavers control Laughing Brook? All those ponds hold the water back. A lot of it sinks into the ground. So there are no bad floods in the spring or after heavy rains, and there always is enough water through the dry weather in summer. Do you see?"

"I guess so," replied Jerry rather lamely.

DIET AND HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.,
Author of "The Human Body"

Relaxing Tension Through Practice.

The doctrine of physiological relaxation as recommended by Dr. Edmund Jacobson, of Chicago, is certainly an indicated procedure for our time. Americans have always been criticized by Europeans for their tenseness. But the Europeans this time have taught us to be even more tense, at the exact present historical moment.

The Germans and the Italians and the Russians seem to have tensed up during the last decade—even the reputedly phlegmatic British. And they have increased our original tenseness. We are told to strain every sinew for the war effort, and that we should gird ourselves up and, of course, we should; but we do need periods of complete relaxation if we are to keep our health and sanity of view.

According to Dr. Jacobson, and I agree, this has to be done deliberately for most of us. Many do not relax even in sleep. The relaxation so often approved of, a game of golf or other sport, or pursuit of a hobby, or card games, or even warm baths, or massage do not really result in the muscular hypotonia and relief of residual tension which is the distinguishing mark of physiological relaxation.

Dr. Jacobson's methods are simple in appearance, although he warns that they have to be practiced to obtain the best results.

Inspection of the nervous person, and this includes most of us, reveals that he is excessively tense in his skeletal muscles. The first lesson may be to increase deliberately this tenseness. If he is frowning excessively he increases the act until he becomes actually aware of it. Then he is instructed to discontinue the frowning—first abruptly and then slowly and progressively.

Repeated practice is given until all the over-active muscle groups have become relaxed.

The procedure follows an anatomical order: Relax the left arm muscles, the wrist, the forearm, the upper arm. Then the right arm. Then the left foot, ankle, foreleg and thigh. Then the abdominal muscles, the back, the shoulders, the chest muscles, the neck and the muscles of the face. The frowning muscles and those of the eyes and speech require the most detailed attention and practice because they participate the most in mental activities and strain.

"Physiological evidence has supported the view that fears and anxious mental states can be relaxed away."

It has been found that even professional instructors in physical education can not learn to relax the first time they try so for most of you it may take regular practice periods for several successive days.

Relaxation is important for refreshing sleep. And one should prepare for night by relaxing during the day. It is a mistake to suppose that the amount of sleep you have is like a savings account; that anything you take from it in the daytime reduces your amount of sleep at night. On the contrary a relaxing nap after lunch or before supper may actually prepare you for a longer sleep at night.

Air Field Personnel Contributes $6,161 To Red Cross Fund

Military and civilian personnel on the Lincoln army air field have contributed $6,161.09 in the 1944 Red Cross War Fund drive, according to announcement Saturday by Maj. Ervin G. Schiesl, special services officer and field chairman for the campaign.

At the beginning of the drive at LAAF military officials, co-operating with Red Cross field directors had set at $7,000 quota for the March drive. The figures were based on the amount of money donated by field personnel in the campaign last year.

Air WAC Second Lt. M. J. Megaro and Second Lt. Sebastian Ittner were instrumental in the success of the drive by devoting a large share of their time in contacting various installations and departments on the field.

Maj. Schiesl, at the close of the campaign, lauded all departments on the field in their co-operation, and asserted, "The results were particularly gratifying, considering the fact that the drive fell on the heels of the fourth war loan drive and the date income taxes were due."

In co-operation with Red Cross field directors who were on various speaking engagements throughout the Lincoln area, field officials dispatched soldier entertainers to these localities to aid the Red Cross war fund rallies.

Enlisted personnel led the field by voluntarily donating $2,579.51 to the drive. Civilian personnel employed on the field contributed a total of $2,196.58 and LAAF officers donated a total of $1,395.00 in the campaign.

Gillette Chides WPB; Importing Alcohol To U. S.

. . . Abandon Own Plants

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) chided war production board (WPB) officials for importing an estimated 25,000,000 gallons of alcohol which he said could have been produced domestically if five midwestern grain alcohol plants had not been abandoned.

At a senate agriculture subcommittee hearing, the Iowan told Dr. Walter G. Whitman, assistant director of the chemicals division, and John W. Boyer, chief of the alcohol section, yesterday that they had testified a year ago when the plants were abandoned that there was sufficient alcohol in prospect, aside from a 100,000,000,000-gallon stockpile.

"And now you expect to import 25,000,000 gallons this year from Canada and Cuba," Gillette asserted. "What has happened to eliminate that 100,000,000-gallon stockpile and to require you to import now?"

Dr. Whitman replied that there were two developments— a higher estimate of alcohol needs for the synthetic rubber program in 1944 and a shortage of grain.

The plants Gillette referred to would have been located at Dubuque and Keokuk, Ia.; Moline and Peoria, Ill.; and Carrollville, Wis.

Dr. Whitman said that industrial alcohol requirements this year would exceed estimated production, including imports, by 29,000,000 gallons, necessitating dipping into existing stockpiles.

—RETIREMENT PLAN—

City Employes Urged To Seek Public Support

. . . By Mayor Marti

Mayor Lloyd J. Marti in an address before the City Employes association at Everett junior high school Friday night declared his belief that the council's retirement proposal would make for more satisfied public employes who would render better service to the city.

Mayor Marti stressed the importance of every city employe saying that one of them if taken from the scene would be a greater loss than any of the council members since they make the machinery function.

He indicated that he as well as many others have "long felt that city employes are underpaid" but that the retirement plan would help to balance that lack.

Up To Employes.

In conclusion Mayor Marti emphasized that it is up to the city employes to put the plan across to the pubibic. "In your presentation be optimistic, courteous and by all means persuasive," he said.

Former Mayor R. E. Campbell pointed out that "the plan is a fair plan." He said that even though the city employes had not been highly paid, they have received compensation by steady employment and income through the depression. "The retirement plan will help to ease the burden of worry for those who have long been in the employ of the city," he said.

Councilman Stanley Maly listed three dangers which face every working man, namely, death, accident and old-age. "For death and accident there is insurance," he said, "but for old-age we feel the retirement plan to be the answer." He said that the greatest problem faced in working out the plan was to arrive at an equal average for all, but indicated the council had conquered this problem.

To Contact Homes.

F. W. Moeller, president of the City Employes' association, outlined the mechanics of the campaign which will be carried on by the organization before the April primaries. Members will attempt to call at every home to present the plan and urge an affirmative vote. Civic, social and fraternal organizations will be visited by speakers.

Ray Case, representing members of the association, stressed that an important way for city employes to assist in the campaign was to "wear out shoe leather."

Charles Putney led the group in songs at the opening of the meeting.

Changes Suggested To Keep 4-H Shows On Amateur Basis

OMAHA, March 18—(AP)—Recommendations to eliminate the grand champion system of judging, commercialism in premium offers and disparity between exhibition rules in 4-H club shows have been approved at a four-state conference here of representatives of clubs, agricultural colleges and livestock organizations.

Spokesmen from Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and South Dakota, meeting here yesterday under the sponsorship of the Nebraska state board of agriculture, suggested the changes to keep the shows "on an amateur and educational basis rather than a professional and commercial one."

Final action on the recommendations, however, was deferred until a study could be completed by a special committee, composed of Ray Rodin of Sioux City, Ia., Interstate Beef Show, chairman; Edward Gabel, Ames, Ia., state 4-H club leader; Willard H. Waldo, Cass county, Neb., agricultural agent; Edwin Schultz, Elgin, Neb., president of the state board of agriculture.

BRAIN TWIZZLERS

By Prof J D Flint

Take Your Choice

You can cook this one up all by yourself and then stew around with it. The idea is that out of all of the digits you make select any one you care to and use it to solve the problem. Of course if you don't pick the right one the problem won't work out but outside of that it is simple. Just pick your digit and use it eight times in any of the four basic arithmetic operations or a combination of them and get an answer of one thousand. For example, if you pick three (don't, because it won't work) you might say that 33 times plus 3 plus 3 divided by 3 equals 100. It doesn't but at least you have used 3 eight times. Okay, go ahead.

Answer To Yesterday's Twizzler

A baker's dozen equals 13, the number of stiches that one in time saves is 9. There are 2 sides on a cottage loaf. There are 14 days in the first two weeks of any month. The number of birds in the hand that one in the bush is worth is ½. Dividing by ½ is the same as multiplying by 2 so the answer is 76.

6-MONTH TERM FOR AIDING DELINQUENCY

Found guilty of the charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors, Alfred Dickey, 37, 1409 Q street, was sentenced to six months in the county jail by Municipal Judge Edward C. Fisher Friday afternoon.

Dickey was arrested Monday night after four juveniles involved in the theft of a purse from the YMCA were found in his car. Testimony by two teen-age girls at the trial indicated that a group of juveniles had been riding around with Dickey in his car at night for several months. Dickey had given the youngsters beer to drink at times, the girls testified.

Youth, 16, Is Acquitted In Schoolmate's Death

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 18 — (INS) — Davis Filgas, 16, acquitted of a murder charge in the torch death of his schoolmate, 17-year-old Patricia Winters, was back home today in Greenville, planning to resume his studies at Greenville high school.

Filgas was freed of the murder charge yesterday when a jury in Judge William B. Brown's court deliberated for two and a half hours and found him not guilty of killing Patricia, whose charred body was found in his burned car Dec. 11.

The prosecution had charged that Filgas struck the girl over the head when she resisted his advances and then set fire to the car.

Really Hoofing It

WASHINGTON, March 18—(INS)—Blame it on gasoline rationing, but the country is really hoofing it.

The new report to congress on the synthetic rubber program disclosed today that the production of heels practically doubled in 1943 over 1941 and the requirements for 1944 are going higher.

In 1944, the report said, approximately three times as many rubber heels will be produced as the peace time economy required in the 12 months before Pearl Harbor.

COURT IN QUANDARY AS CRASH VICTIMS GIVE SAME ACCOUNT

When both parties tell the same story, what is the judge to do?

Harry Sidders, 311 North Eighteenth street, appeared in Municipal court for trial on the charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Edwin Baldwin, Palmyra, complaining witness, said that he was on his way home from Lincoln several weeks ago when Sidders car struck his on a curve and continued on its way. He, Baldwin, was forced to stop immediately because the fender had been pushed against the tire. In getting out to fix the fender, a tag from Sidder's car was found in the road, and his identity was learned later through this medium. After fixing the fender, he attempted to follow Sidders.

Sidders, in turn, said that Baldwin struck his car and did not stop, but that he was forced to stop because the bumper and fender were bent. After fixing the fender, he went on to a filling station about three miles distant and there attempted to fix the bumper, which was scraping the tire. When he first stopped at the scene, he did not notice the license had come off. Baldwin, he said, must have come back later and found it, since he did not stop.

Each party had a supporting witness. Baldwin was accompanied by his brother-in-law and Sidders by his daughter.

Judge Edward C. Fisher took the case under advisement.

Chicago Livestock

CHICAGO, March 18—(AP)—

Hogs were quoted nominally steady today with the top at $14.40 as the salable supply dwindled to only 500 head. Only a small proportion of these were of good quality, leaving insufficient head to test the market's condition.

During the week prices advanced strongly on all types of hogs with light weights showing the widest upturn. Declining receipts, indicative of the fact that the peak of the hog run was over, was the major reason for the price strength. Average price yesterday was $14 25 against $13.87 a week ago and $15.55 a year ago.

Weighty steers were steady in the cattle section during the week while lighter types held strong to 25 cents higher, generally bringing the best prices of the season on these grades. Top was again $17 00. Stock cattle were very scarce and steady prices were quoted for such offerings.

Slaughter lambs closed about steady with last week's finish while sheep were firm.

(W. F. A.)

SHEEP—Salable 500, total 500; compared last week; slaughter lambs about steady; sheep scarce, firm; good and choice fed wooled western lambs, 112 lbs. down, $16.10@16.40, closing top and popular price, $16.35; several loads largely good lambs, $15.90@16.00 early and $16.00 @16.15 late; bulk medium and good kinds $15.40@15.85; three loads low-medium 78 lb. Wheat Prices Firm At Close

CHICAGO, March 18—(AP)—

After selling lower in the early part of the session when considerable quantities of the May contract were offered, rye reversed its direction toward the close today and moved ahead of the preceding session's final prices. Traders were impressed by the market's ability to absorb the May selling and by the strength of deferred contracts.

Other grains generally displayed a firm undertone. There was some buying of wheat by an elevator house but in general interest in this pit continued to lag. Broomhall, British grain authority, estimated the Canadian wheat surplus for export on March 1 at 565,000,000 bushels against 740,000,000 bushels a year earlier. Local traders supported oats.

At the close wheat was unchanged to ⅛c higher, May 1.72⅛; oats were ⅛@¼c higher, May 81⅞c; rye was unchanged to 1c higher, May $1.29¼@⅜, and barley was unchanged to ¼c higher, May $1.26¼.

Wall Street Trading Brisk

NEW YORK, March 18—(AP)—Buying power again centered on the rails in today's brief stock market while further profits were cashed in a number of recently strong industrials.

Prices turned a shade uneven after a moderately steady start and the direction was a trifle foggy near the close. Volume of around 700,000 shares was one of the largest for Saturday of the past year. Accounts were trimmed here and there on the idea five consecutive million-share days entitled the list to a rest.

Carriers continued to respond to investment demand based mainly on the sounder financial position of most roads and their apparent ability to absorb mounting taxes and wages with plenty of leeway remaining for dividends.

Touching peaks for the year or so since 1937 were Alleghany prior preferred, up more than 8 points on plans of the company to sell a large block of its Chesapeake & Ohio holdings, Gulf Mobile & Ohio, Great Northern, Pennsylvania, M-K-T preferred and Santa Fe.

Goodrich was in new high ground for 1944. Support was accorded U. S Rubber, Goodyear, American Telephone and North American. Backward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Western Union "A," Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, Chesapeake & Ohio and International Harvester.

Selected bonds were given a good lift.

Coast Guard Develops New 'Super-Jeep' That Does Everything But Fly

NEW YORK, March 18—(INS)—The Jeep has grown up.

A new super-Jeep which easily carries 10 men and travels up to 60 miles an hour over sand, has been developed by the coast guard for its shore patrols, coast guard officials revealed today.

It's only three feet longer than the regular four-man jeep but has special wheels which enable it to climb up the roughest beachheads. Lt. H. E. Harding, coast guard transportation officer whose unit developed the vehicle, commented proudly:

"This Jeep will do everything but fly."

WATER DIVERSION

subsidy, the money from financing has come from the hard won earnings of the irrigators, so development has been slow," the report added.

"Always confronting the farm irrigators has been the nightmare of water shortages in July and August, the months when water is needed the most. Year after year they have seen their crops dry up even though irrigation canals ran through their farms and they had paid money for irrigation water.

"This critical shortage has been the basis of many court battles and until an adequate supply of water is assured these farmers there will still be court battles. This critical shortage has also been the limiting factor in development of thousands of acres of valley land that is as good as any land to be found.

Predicts Resistance.

"The citizens of the Platte valley have never doubted their right to use the waters of the Platte river for full development of this area. They will resist any effort to take water out of the valley until their needs are fully satisfied."

The report forecast a more rapid development in the future for the area because of storage facilities now available to furnish waters to the eight lower canals during the critical shortage time.

In order to hold irrigation costs to a reasonable level, the report added, irrigation projects that need storage water must have hydro-electric revenues or in their absence "some other subsidies."

The report declared that more economical use of waters of Nebraska for irrigation and power has been made possible by combined operations of the hydroelectric districts.

Consumers Board

appearing in the papers yesterday concerning what was done at the Thursday night conference that the Board of Directors will proceed other than in an orderly and deliberate manner. We feel sure that there will be adequate time and opportunity for any financial institution interested to determine upon and make its bid, and that each will have the same chance to become the successful bidder for the bonds.

"The next regular meeting of the Board of Directors will be held in Columbus on March 21, and it is likely that some further announcement regarding the procedure to be followed can be made after that meeting."

Asserts Bidding Not Required.

COLUMBUS, Neb., March 18—(AP) — Phil R. Hockenberger, president of Consumers' Public Power district, said today that the district's plan to sell $42,128,000 of refinancing bonds through an agent to a banking syndicate is the same method used in issuing all of its previous bonds.

"It is to be regretted that there is a wide misconception that competitive bidding is required in sale of public and municipal bonds," he said. "There is no such requirement."

Hockenberger said he failed to understand the legal point involved in the injunction action brought against Consumers' by the attorney general at the governor's request, seeking to bar the district from employing Guy Myers as its fiscal agent in refunding the bonds. The state Supreme court has issued a temporary injunction holding up the contract.

All previous Consumers' issues, said Hockenberger, have been handled by Myers and were sold by negotiation rather than through competitive bidding.

He said that bonds of several communities which acquired Consumers' properties were disposed by private sale.

"People who advocate competitive bidding fail to realize that in an issue of $42,000,000 there is no one in Nebraska who could qualify as a bidder," he said.

"It is doubtful if there are more than two such bidders in the whole United States."

Hockenberger claimed that Myers' profit from the contract would be approximately $100,000, due to legal, engineering and auditing expense. The attorney general had claimed Myers fee would be approximately $220,000.

Letter to Griswold.

At Columbus Charles B. Fricke, member of Consumers' board, made public a letter he had written to Governor Griswold in which he blamed James W. Kinsinger, Lincoln, another director of the district for bringing the governor into the dispute.

Kinsinger and H. J. Wisner, Scottsbluff publisher, also a director, opposed the hiring of Myers as agent. Both were appointed to the board by Griswold following legislative reorganization of Consumers.

Fricke wrote the governor that "before Mr. Kinsinger came on the board it was not our policy to look at any problem from its political aspect, and I want to say very positively that had we done so we would have not had the wonderful record that has been made to date x x x

"Every month Consumers has reduced rates in some part of its holdings—in addition, Consumers is continuing to reduce rates; Employes have received wage increases amounting to approximately $50,000 annually; $2,703,000 in bonds have been paid off and we have on hand $1,079,000 for future bond retirements; current assets are over four million dollars and current liabilities at very little over one million dollars.

"We are delighted that the opportunity has arisen much sooner than we expeceed. We know that now is the time for refinancing. We believe that the refinancing should be handled purely on the basis of its genuine merit, and we are convinced that for the present the best terms of refinancing can be secured by negotiation."

Fricke added that he is "in full accord that the people of Nebraska who are served by the district have a vital interest in the welfare of the district, but I also feel that the board of directors must take the responsibility of doing what it thinks best under the circumstances, provided they have been fully and completely advised: and they should do what they think is best regardless of any possible political implications to which they might be subjected x x x."

A letter from the governor to Fricke and released yesterday by the governor's office referred to previous assertions of politics.

The governor has not been in Lincoln since the filing of the injunction petition and he has not been available for comment.

Fricke had written to the governor, "when we started out on this program only a few years ago, we planned that we would some day refinance, but figured we would have to be in operation at least 10 years before such an ideal condition might be reached. So you see, governor, not having any political ambitions, it rather goes against the grain of some of us to look at any problem from any standpoint other than its real, genuine merit."

Berlin Bombed With Leaflets During Raids

Call For Overthrow Of Hitler 'Slavery'

WASHINGTON, March 18 — (INS)—Leaflets dropped during air raids on Berlin—made public today with President Roosevelt's tacit approval—called upon the German people to overthrow Hitler and end their present "slavery," the devastation of their country and the slaughter of German manhood.

One of the propaganda pamphlets, which cascaded down along with high explosive block busters, said in part:

"Because nazi leaders fear peace, they attempt to make the German people frightened of peace also. The truth is, that Hitler's war has enslaved the German people. Peace would end this slavery.

"Only through peace, Germany can still be saved. When peace comes then the alarm sirens will cease to sound; then no more bombs will fall on Germany; then the German manhood, which now senselessly perishes in Hitler's war, will turn to the task of rebuilding the fatherland."

Two FDR Quotations.

The leaflet also carried two quotations from President Roosevelt. They were made on last December 24 and said:

"The united nations have not the intention to enslave the German people.

"We do not wish to hinder the natural and peaceful development of the German people as a respected and worthy member of the European family of nations."

Another pamphlet recounted the Stalingrad disaster and asked: "How many more Stalingrads shall there be?" It went on to tell of the annihilation of ten German divisions last month by the red army at Korsin."

MacAvoy Case To Be Argued April 5

Supreme court has set the murder case of the state against Joseph T. MacAvoy, former soldier, on the charge of killing Anna Milroy near Sutton last August, for argument April 5.

The involved litigation over sale of Standard Oil stock of the old Nebraska company through the Standard Oil company of Indiana to the Standard Oil Company of Nebraska will be discussed before the high court Thursday April 6 in a three-hour argument.

Final Vesper Concert

The last of this season's vesper concerts, sponsored by the board of education, will be given by the Lincoln high school choir and orchestra, with Bonnie Compton, pianist, in the high school auditorium at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Miss Compton, and the orchestra under the direction of Bernard F. Nevin, will be heard in the Mendelssohn Concerto No. 1 in G minor. Bach, Bizet and Wagner will also be represented in the orchestral program.

Hugh T. Rangeler will direct the choir in Easter music, including several modern Russian choral works. Floyd Robbins will accompany the group.

CREDITED with the destruction of 21 Jap planes, Col. Neel Kearby of San Antonio, Tex., above, is missing in action. Stationed with the fifth air force in New Guinea, Kearby led a recent series of devastating fighter raids over Wewak in which 100 Jap planes were destroyed. (International).

Troops Get Mascots Wherever They Go

A SOUTH PACIFIC BASE — (AP) — (Delayed) — Tom, Bugle Pete and Billy share mascot duties at an army division base here—all acquired since the troops landed in the Solomons.

Billy, picked up by S. Sgt. Bert Baker of Hazard, Ky., is the favorite. He is a goat, who, since G. I. adoption, has developed an enormous appetite for chewing tobacco.

Tom is a cat and Bugle Pete a red rooster. Where they came from nobody can remember for sure—but they're natives.

Cassino Hold Weakens rubble and the caves in the hillsides. Allied tanks moved into Cassino Thursday night after having been held up by huge craters from Wednesday's tremendous air bombardment.

Only patrol activity was reported on the Anzio beachhead and on the Eighth army front.

Germans driven into the southwest corner of Cassino were protected by supporting fire from nazi positions on high ground to the west and southwest of the town. Allied infantry went through a hurricane of mortar fire to engage the Germans in hand-to-hand struggles.

Enter Rail Station

New Zealand troops started an attack toward the railroad station at the southern edge of Cassino shortly before noon yesterday and by 2 p. m. one or two tanks with some infantry were reported in the station.

Allied artillery engaged eight German tanks and anti-tank artillery nearby. As the New Zealand infantry went forward, 15 Focke-Wolfs appeared suddenly and dive-bombed them, but failed to break the attack.

While the whole area trembled under gunfire and bombings from both sides, American engineers threw a bridge over the Rapido river to speed the inflow of infantry and tanks. The Germans threw 18 fighter-bombers against the bridge, but failed to destroy it.

Prisoners said that when the air and artillery bombardment began last Wednesday the Germans in Cassino took refuge in deep shelters they had prepared extensively under the town. Casualties were severe, they said, but the survivors were able to present stern resistance to the allied ground assault.

Frown on Extra Point

—PROS PROPOSE CHANGE RULE—

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

CHICAGO, March 18—(INS)—What it's possible to overhear in our set (without the aid of an ear trumpet):

For more years than we care to count, football in general has been talking idly and ineffectually about the point-after-touchdown. However, the very least to be said for the National Professional Football league is that it has gumption. Anyhow, the word is that the pro league may at least do something about the extra point at the mid-April meeting of its rules committee.

It may cause restrictions to be written into the code, making this very formal and insipid antic more difficult. At the same time, the league may, in the end, go reactionary and leave the extra-point situation exactly as is. And it might even be so rabid as to pick the thing up by the nape of its pants and give it the heave-ho out into the areaway, with all touchdowns counting seven points.

FOR AND AGAINST.

Curly Lambeau's for that, they say. But Fred Mandell, Detroit owner, doesn't concur. In fact, he doesn't even concur with his coach, Gus Dorais.

The latter thinks the ball should be put in play for the conversion from the 10-yard line and at the point where the touchdown was scored. Mandell's for bringing back the gaudy and danged near prehistoric punt-out from behind the goal, with the conversion being attempted from the spot where the fair-catch is made.

We can well imagine present-day addicts goggling in awe at this complicated bit of business. Maybe Luke Johnsos of the Bears can, too.

MANDERS HOLDS RECORD.

Anyhow, he's said to be against any and all changes, though it seems reasonably clear that a change is likely to be made. And doubtless should be, for the play, as executed now, is practically a pantomine—ordained to success almost before it starts.

Jack Manders, for example, made 72 straight goals for the league record before his recent retirement and Don Hutson at present has a run of 52 (unfinished).

But even more revealing is the fact that the teams in the 1944 league set-up have played one another a total of 729 times. And only in 25 of these games has the extra point been the winning (and losing) factor.

Jack Kramer wasn't healthy enough to stay in the army but he pitched the only no-hit no-run game in the American association last year. He's now with the Browns.

Boom Hits White Sox

—DYKES CLUB HAS THE GOODS—

BY TED MEIER.

NEW YORK, March 18—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox, not the champion New York Yankees, will be the club to beat this year for the American league pennant, in the opinion of Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians. 'Lou went out on the limb yesterday with his prediction at Lafayette, Ind., where the Indians have pitched their spring camp.

JIMMY DYKES.

"The White Sox," he asserted, "have lost fewer important men than any other club and they have added a number of players who figure to give them better balance than they had 'ast year when they finished fourth.

MORE PUNCH THIS YEAR.

"The loss of Shortstop Luke Appling (leading hitter in the league last year) will hurt, of course, but, even with him gone, I think they'll have more punch, better distributed all down the line."

As for the Yankees, Boudreau declared "you can't lose fellows like Charley Keller, Bill Johnson, Bill Dickey, Joe Gordon and Spud Chandler and still win a pennant, even in a weakened league."

He thinks his own Indians will again finish in the first division and, for a dark-horse contender, picked the Boston Red Sox.

DYKES IN HAPPY MOOD.

As if to bear out Boudreau's prediction, White Sox manager, Jimmy Dykes, was reported jubilant at the Sox training camp at French Lick, Ind., that the So-- will have the services of Hal Trosky, former hard-hitting Cleveland first-baseman, who has been reclassified 4-F.

Thornton Lee, one-time ace pitcher, also surprised Dykes at the first workouts of the Sox by cutting loose in warmup and demonstrating that his formerly ailing arm no longer hurts.

Husky Russian Foe

. . . OF TIGERMAN PESEK . . .

IN HIS first performance of the current wrestling season at the fairgrounds arena, scheduled for next Tuesday night, Tigerman John Pesek will have as his opponent George Tostovich was announced Saturday by Promoter Adam Krieger, who has booked Jerry Adam, Lincoln, to take on Geza Tako, the judo expert from the Harvard air base, in the semi-windup.

Shoe-shine Boy Slings Plenty Leather

—BEAU JACK PLASTERS AL 'BUMMY' DAVIS—

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, March 18—(INS)—As a lightweight, Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga., who twice held the New York commission 135-pound title, would make a magnificent welterweight. We know this today after watching Jack slam out a unanimous 10-round decision last night over Al (Bummy) Davis of New York.

BEAU JACK.

Jack, at 138 pounds, unfettered by the necessity of making the weakening lightweight limit, fought the fastest, smartest and most lucrative fight in his career. The wealth involved in the fight was incidental, 19,963 customers shelling out a mere $132,823, but what really counted was the quality of Jack's performance.

The fight did not go according to the script. Jack, as the eight to five favorite, was slated by the Broadway wise guys to lose, since the last four favorites at the Garden had lost. Again, Jack apparently was destined to be out-slugged by Davis, who possesses one of the finest left hooks in the game, but it was Jack who exhibited the thunderous punching.

Bummy Meets His Master.

To top it all off, Jack, who was indicted as one of the most inept champions ever to wear the 135-pound crown, outboxed the 142¼-pound Davis from the first round to the last.

The first three rounds saw the most uninhibited slugging ever exhibited in a Madison Square Garden main event. Jack came out in the initial frame with caution, a quality he rarely shows. He shot innumerable left jabs at Davis' head, all fast, hard shots. They both slugged away wildly, finishing the closest of all the 10 rounds in a savage flurry of blows.

The second round was the smartest Jack ever fought in his life. He kept his left working; whirled Davis around in the clinches; worked his opponent over inside and scored at long range with looping underhand rights.

Dazed Davis On Ropes.

Davis was very close to being a knockout victim in the third round. Jack, obviously sent in there to punch, closed in on Davis in the last 20 seconds and had the New Yorker bleeding and leaning dazedly against the ropes. Jack still was whacking away after the bell. Bummy staggered back to his corner, saved by the bell after taking a terrible pounding.

In the fourth and fifth rounds, Jack came in under Davis' weak guard and mauled him against the ropes.

In the sixth, Davis was sent floorward, but recovered midway in flight and hung on. The next three rounds saw Davis pounded in the in-fighting. Again, in the very last second of the final round, he caught himself after being hit with a smashing right, regained his balance and desperately hung on.

Candy Kid of Welters.

It was in this way that Jack proved his worth as a welterweight. We are sure that should Jack be loosed among the welterweights, particularly those of today, he would clean up the field.

Jack is a tremendous favorite among the fans, and, to prove it for the umpty-umpth time, his fight with Davis broke the Garden's money mark for contests featuring the lighter men.

In his last two fights, Jack has brought in close to a quarter of a million dollars. Any fighter among the little men who can draw that much money should be stuffed and preserved for posterity.

Shoots 6 Under Par

Dutch Harrison Dazzles At Charlotte With 7 Birdies And First Round Score of 66.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 18—(INS)—A blazing six-under-par 66 gave E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, army air force sergeant now stationed at Greensboro, the lead today as the second round of the $10,000 Charlotte open golf tournament got under way.

The Arkansas pro shot a 35-31—66 on the par-72 course which included seven birdies.

Good as it was, it was almost equalled by Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Philadelphia, the leader of the winter tour, who shot a 67. McSpaden had a 35 going out, but collected four birdies coming home for a 32.

Nelson Close Up.

Bracketed at 70 for third place were Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio; Craig Wood, Mamaroneck, N. Y.; Jimmy Hines, Amsterdam, N. Y., and Sammy Byrd, Detroit.

P. G. A. President Ed Dudley, Atlantic City, N. J., turned in a 71 to complete the sub-par scorers.

Eighteen more holes will be played today, with the 36-hole final Sunday.

Students On Side of Coaches

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., March 18—(AP)—Students of North Platte high school, during an assembly yesterday, agreed not to conduct any demonstrations as a result of the school board's dismissal this week of Ivan Wilson, football and track coach; John Scheidt, basketball coach, and Howard Elm, reserve coach.

Petitions were being circulated among high school students asking that the school board reconsider its action, but it was finally agreed that a committee of students take their grievances to the school board. A meeting of the board has been set for Monday night.

W. J. Braham, superintendent of schools; Principal L. W. Nelson and Coaches Wilson and Elm spoke at the assembly, counciling against hasty student action.

The New York Institute for the Education of the Blind has a wrestling team that has won three-fourths of its meets over a 14-year stretch.

Prospect Rosy For Football

PITTSBURGH, March 18—(AP)—Professional football on an international scale, with minor leagues developing players as they have in organized baseball, is the dream of Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National Football league, as he looks ahead to the post-war era.

Layden, here to speak at the Knights of Equity St. Patrick's day banquet, said in an interview last night that boys in the service already had planted seeds from which an international association may flower.

Game Enjoys Growth.

As to the international angle, he said that there now are four football teams in Hawaii, several in Scotland and England, and, "I have just heard of a couple in North Africa.

"And there was a game played in Manchuria not long ago," he said.

He added that prisoners of war in Germany are playing the game in German camps, and asserted:

"These boys are doing more for the good neighbor policy and real peace after the war than any one else. They are implanting a sport seed to replace the fanatical one Hitler put there years ago."

Get Going At Denver

Crack Basket Quintets Due Install Tournament Play In Pursuit Of National Title.

DENVER, March 18—(INS)—Basketball's world series—the national A. A. U. tournament—opens in Denver Sunday, with the defending champion Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., installed as heavy favorites in a field of 47 contending teams from 18 states, including 12 military outfits.

"Experts" listed the Denver American Legion-Ambrose team, which has alternated with Phillips in domination of the tournament for a decade, as the potential runner-up, although top seeding also was expected for Twentieth Century-Fox of Hollywood; Dow Chemical Co. of Midland, Mich.; Fort Warren, Wyo.; Cessna Aircraft of Wichita, Kas., and Allen Bradley of Milwaukee.

The Cessna Kansans and the Allen Bradleys emerged as winners in two tune-up games played last night. Cessna defeated the Army All-Stars of Peterson field and Camp Carson at Colorado Springs, Colo., 48 to 38. Allen Bradley bested the Denver Legion-Ambrose team, 45 to 40, at Boulder, Colo.

In the first round pairings, the Nuthouse quint from Lincoln, Neb., drew the Shoskys of Walsenburg, Colo., and Omaha university will take on a team from Baton Rouge, La.

Denial By T-Man of Pro Deal

PITTSBURGH, March 18—(INS)—The Pitt Panthers' football coach, Clark Shaughnessy, today threw a wet blanket over reports that he will join the Washington Redskins' staff.

"I have never been interested in becoming a pro football coach either as head coach, assistant coach, advisory coach or whatever you want to call it," Shaughnessy said. "I don't understand how my talks with the Washington Redskins' owner, George Marshall, can be magnified to make me appear as a new member of their staff. My football job is at Pitt. Any idea that I am going to divide my time between two jobs is ridiculous."

Shaughnessy explained he was only helping Marshall by outlining a set of "T" formation plays for the Redskins. He declared he has no offer of pay from the Redskins and has not asked for any.

SPORTS Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, March 18—(AP)—After hearing the boos in Madison Square Garden the other night when the basketball referees awarded a couple of free goals, we wonder what all those court coaches were thinking about when they voted for a rule forbidding players to touch the ball on its downward arc toward the basket...From a seat as good as any the noisy second-guessers occupied, we not only couldn't see whether towering Don Otten of Bowling Green had his hand over the basket, but we couldn't see how the officials could tell, either...And that's a tough enough assignment without making them decided just when a ball starts the downward arc...But it was easy enough to see how the clever St. John's ball-handlers made the lumbering Otten look silly while DePaul's George Mikan, almost as big but a good ball player, was a standout against Muhlenberg.

EVER since Lee Savold whipped Joe Baksi last week, the boys around Stillman's gym have been trying to copy his "Gibbons style" boxing, especially his trick of knocking down the other fellow's left with his right and then shooting his own left...Wonder what they'll be trying next week?... The Boston Red Sox may have to get along without caps for a week or two because they've sent their entire supply to flyers who find baseball caps just what they need to keep the sun out of their eyes.

TO CALL attention to Ray Dumont's national registration day for sandlot ball players, March 25, the Wichita, Kas., Old-Time Baseball Players' association is offering a ball autographed by Jerome and Paul Dean to the youngest player to register in their city—presumably trying to make the younger generation daffy at the start—and the oldest registrant will get a ball autographed, of course, by the Dodgers.

CARTER (Scoop) Latimer, Greenville, S. C., News: "Just when everybody's trying to hold the line against inflation, Connie Mack says the new livelier ball will inflat hitting 25 per cent in the American league...Another setback for OPA—Old Pitchers' Ailments."

Ed Sauer, Cub rookie, hit 51 doubles for Nashville last season, one short of tieing for the minor league lead with Phil Maier of Hagerstown.

The Richmond club of the Piedmont league will be a Giant farm this season.

Irish Grid Squad Has 103 Total

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 18—(AP)—Ed McKeever, assistant Notre Dame football coach, checked on the performance of 103 candidates for the Irish grid team when they turned out for the first spring practice yesterday—but most of the afternoon practice was under direction of newsreel and cameramen, who chronicled the opening of the four-week sessions.

Seven lettermen from last year's national championship team showed up. They were John Adams and George Sullivan, tackles; Gaspar Urban, guard, and Frank Dancewicz, Fred Early, Bob Kelly and Johnny Lujack, backs.

Trainees At Uni. Go In Finals

Wrestlers of the AAF snatched the championship when pitted against the ASTP in the final tournament round Friday night at the University of Nebraska coliseum. The Air Force grapplers compiled a point advantage of 52 to 35. Jerry Adam, director of wrestling at the university, was in charge of the tourney, the contestants numbering 52 servicemen hailing from 32 states.

Sets Pace In Nation

Bay Meadows Race Track Gave Round Million Last Year to Charities of War.

BAY MEADOWS, Cal., March 18—(INS)—With everything pointing to the most successful meeting in its history, northern California's Bay Meadows race track gets off this afternoon to a 55-day session during which period the management hopes to bring to $2,000,000 the amount the track can donate to war relief.

Following a slam-bang autumn session in 1943, at the conclusion of which the sum of $850,500 was turned over to war relief, together with $170,790 donated to civilian charities, Bay Meadows, for the second successive year, earned the distinction of having contributed more money to various rleief agencies than any other track in America.

No Finger In Dicker For Yanks

PONCA CITY, Okla., March 18—(INS)—A denial that he was associated with James A. Farley, former chairman of the democratic national committee, in a reported plan to purchase the New York Yankees was made today by Lew Wentz, wealthy Oklahoma oil man.

"I did discuss this matter with Jim Farley a year or two ago, but at that time I was not interested. I have had no communication wtih him since. So I am not in on the deal, which should prove to be a good one for Mr. Farley and his associates," Wentz said.

Wentz is republican national committeeman from Oklahoma.

Hahn to Lake City To See Dodds Run

FALLS CITY, Neb., March 18—Lloyd Hahn departed Friday for Chicago to see Gil Dodds, his correspondence school track protege, try for a new world's record for the mile in the Chicago indoor relays Saturday. The affair will have special significance for Hahn, who will relieve his own younger days, when he was burning up the mile tracks in American and Europe, as he watches the young Ex-Falls City preacher peel off the laps in company with other great milers of the nation.

College Wrestling Meet Called Off

The national collegiate wrestling meet will not be held this year, Dr. R. G. Clapp, of the University of Nebraska and chairman of the National Collegiate association wrestling committee, announced today.

Dr. Clapp said the meet was called off last year also because of wartime conditions and that there had been no increase in prospective contestants for a national meet this year.

Before 1943, the meet has been held annually since 1928.

N. G. Kraschel Mentioned For F.C.A. Governor

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—Nelson G. Kraschel, general agent for the Farm Credit Administration at Omaha and former governor of Iowa, was among those whose names figured in discussion here today of possible choices to succeed Dr. A. G. Black as governor of the F.C.A.

Another possibility was said to be N. E. Dodd, AAA chief and a native of Oregon.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard recommended to the white house, upon Dr. Black's resignation, that I. W. Duggan of Georgia, deputy FCA governor and former agricultural adjustment director for the south, be elevated to the $10,000-a-year governorship.

The recommendation met a warm response among southern congressmen, and from Food Administrator Marvin Jones, but nothing has been heard from it since Duggan's name was referred to National Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan.

Some Duggan supporters attribute the delay to a desire on the part of party managers to canvass the field for an appointee who will lend the most strength in the middle west in the coming election.

George Woods, Red Sox pitcher, stands five inches over six feet and has 225 pounds to go with it.
